This four-year programme is structured around three studio areas: painting, fine art media and sculpture, with an integrated history and theory of art component. All of our studio staff are practising artists and scholars with significant exhibition and public profiles. Our students also benefit from the vast cultural resources that London offers.

Key information

Programme starts
September 2018

Location
London, Bloomsbury

Degree benefits

- Each student is allocated their own studio space at the start of each year within their chosen subject area. First-year students explore each area on rotation during the first term.

- All undergraduates are eligible to apply for international exchanges. The Slade has exchange agreements with art schools in China, Europe, Israel and the United States.

- The Slade’s location in central London, close to many important galleries, museums, libraries and theatres, provides opportunities to access a wide range of learning resources and research. The Slade is based in the heart of the UCL campus allowing for interdisciplinary discourse.

- Distinguished alumni include Lucien Freud, Paula Rego, Derek Jarman, Antony Gormley, Rachel Whiteread, Tacita Dean, Cecily Brown, Phyllida Barlow, Martin Creed and Mona Hatoum.

Research Excellence Framework (REF) 2014

The Research Excellence Framework, or REF, is the system for assessing the quality of research in UK higher education institutions. The 2014 REF was carried out by the UK’s higher education funding bodies, and the results used to allocate research funding from 2015/16.

- 79% rated 4* (‘world-leading’) or 3* (‘internationally excellent’)

Learn more about the scope of UCL’s research, and browse case studies, on our Research Impact website.

Degree structure

The Fine Art BA is a non-modal, integrated degree.

The programme is structured around three studio areas: painting, fine art media and sculpture. The programme is studio-based and you are expected to develop your own work with tutorial and technical assistance from a specialist team of academic and technical staff. Cross-area seminars and tutorial groups ensure that the three studio areas have a forum for the exchange of ideas. You will also benefit from a programme of visiting artists, gallery visits and other events that aim to develop exciting and rigorous debate. Year groups are mixed together in the studio spaces providing a lively cross-fertilisation of ideas and practice.

History and Theory of Art modules are integral to the programme and help you contextualise your studio work and negotiate the relationships between making art and the ways in which art is interpreted, displayed and understood.

You will take an additional module from another UCL department for one term. This will be entirely your own choice and can either be related to studio work or to develop a further interest.

YEAR ONE

- Studio work in chosen specialism
- History and Theory of Art

YEAR TWO

- Studio work in chosen specialism
- History and Theory of Art
- Additional subject
- During the spring term students will participate in the Study Abroad Preparation Programme, the successful completion of which is a prerequisite for progression to the year abroad.

YEAR THREE

- Studio work in chosen specialism
- History and Theory of Art
- Study abroad in Autumn Term (optional)
- Year abroad
- Teaching in English is offered at most host institutions; however, non-French speaking students must complete a beginners French course alongside their studies at the ENS des Beaux-Arts. No work placements are offered.
- Download study abroad information sheet.
- Visit UCL Study Abroad for further details.

Where can you study abroad?

- Institutions currently open to the programme include:
  - Akademie der bildenden Kuenste Wien
  - Kuvataideakatemia, Helsinki
  - ENS des Beaux-Arts, Paris
  - Staatliche Hochschule fur Bildende Künste, Frankfurt
  - The Guangzhou Academy of Fine Art
  - Bezalel Academy of Arts and Design, Jerusalem
  - School of the Art Institute of Chicago, Chicago
  - New York Studio School of Drawing, Painting and Sculpture
  - The Cooper Union for the Advancement of Science and Art, New York
  - Malmo Art Academy, Lund University
- Note: students cannot study at an institution where UCL does not have a bilateral exchange set up.

FINAL YEAR

- Studio work in chosen specialism
Your learning

The BA is studio-based, with an emphasis on self-initiated work. This is supported by one-to-one and group tutorials, cross-area seminars and area seminars, contemporary art lectures and the History and Theory of Art modules. Technical inductions, workshops and one-to-one technical instruction are provided according to each student's academic needs.

Assessment

You will be assessed through tutorial reports, annual assessment of your studio work, and coursework in History and Theory of Art. Your final assessment will be based on a combination of your History and Theory of Art coursework results and a final degree show in the form of an exhibition.

Your career

The programme aims to: develop the individual intelligence, research interests and skills you bring with you to the school develop your critical awareness and understanding of fine art and its contexts provide the intellectual and practical resources to enable you to realise your creative potential as a professional artist.

Most Slade graduates become professional artists but you will leave UCL with a range of skills to branch out into a variety of careers. You will have built up practical, transferrable and academic skills and these, alongside any experience you may have gained outside your degree, will widen your career options.

First career destinations of recent graduates (2013-2015) of this programme at the UCL Slade School include:

// Lecturer in Fine Art, Studio Miu
// MSc/MA in Innovation Design Engineering, Imperial College London/Royal College of Art
// Studio Assistant, ADL
// MA in Painting, Royal College of Art

Your application

Application for admission should be made through UCAS (the Universities and Colleges Admissions Service). Applicants currently at school or college will be provided with advice on the process; however, applicants who have left school or who are based outside the United Kingdom may obtain information directly from UCAS.

You must submit a portfolio for inspection including a selection of current work demonstrating your skills/interests e.g. drawings, photographs, paintings on paper or board (not stretched canvases), sketchbooks and/or notebooks. Larger paintings/3D works should be photographic prints. Videos/films should be in QuickTime on DVD as a showreel of less than five minutes’ duration. International students should send a digital format portfolio.

After you submit your UCAS application, you should follow the instructions on the Slade website (www.ucl.ac.uk/slade) for the portfolio inspections which take place in February. Your portfolio should comprise a selection of current and recent work including self-initiated pieces.
Entry requirements
