History of Art BA /

UCL is one of the most exciting places to study history of art in the country. This programme aims to develop your knowledge and understanding of the visual arts and material culture, covering a wide range of visual imagery and making use of London’s extensive public collections, libraries, museums and architecture.

Key information

Programme starts
September 2018

Location
London, Bloomsbury

Degree benefits

- High-quality research undertaken by staff, which is reflected in our research excellence profile, informs the content of our undergraduate courses, keeping our teaching at the forefront of the discipline.
- We have specialists on all periods from the medieval onwards, with particular strengths in the study of contemporary art, as well as experts in material studies.
- UCL Art Museum houses an important collection of artworks, which is used regularly to support our teaching. These include works by Turner and Rembrandt, as well as important 20th-century prints. The UCL Institute of Making is also used regularly in our teaching.
- UCL’s central location in London is within walking distance of the British Museum and British Library and provides easy access to the National Gallery, the Tate Galleries and the Victoria and Albert Museum.

Research Excellence Framework (REF) 2014

The Research Excellence Framework, or REF, is the system for assessing the quality of research in UK higher education institutions. The 2014 REF was carried out by the UK’s higher education funding bodies, and the results used to allocate research funding from 2015/16.

- 85% rated 4* (‘world-leading’) or 3* (‘internationally excellent’)

Learn more about the scope of UCL’s research, and browse case studies, on our Research Impact website.

Degree structure

In each year of your degree you will take a number of individual modules, normally valued at 0.5 or 1.0 credits, adding up to a total of 4.0 credits for the year. Modules are assessed in the academic year in which they are taken. The balance of compulsory and optional modules varies from programme to programme and year to year. A 1.0 credit is considered equivalent to 15 credits in the European Credit Transfer System (ECTS).

The programme begins with introductory modules in History of Art and its Objects and a foundation course in history of art, together with thematic seminars. You will continue with modules set mainly within two chosen periods in the second year, and in the final year you will select special subjects offered within the department.

You will also take modules in a subsidiary subject (anthropology, archaeology, history or philosophy) to help build a solid foundation to comprehend visual culture, both past and present.

In the final year you will write a dissertation, involving independent research.

YEAR ONE

Core or compulsory module(s)

- History of Art and its Objects
- History of Art Thematic Seminar
- History of European Art (1): Classical to Early Renaissance
- History of European Art (2): High Renaissance to the Present Day

Optional modules

- You will select 1.5 credits from a wide range of optional modules, including at least one of the following:
  - Thematic Seminar (1): Art and Architecture before 1800
  - Thematic Seminar (2): Art and Architecture after 1800
  - Further options will be selected in a subsidiary subject: either anthropology, archaeology, history or philosophy.

YEAR TWO

Core or compulsory module(s)

- Advanced Lecture Course I: After Life: Art, Knowledge and Observation in Early Modern Europe
- Advanced Lecture Course II: Histories of Photography

Optional modules

- You will select 3.0 credits from a wide range of optional modules, including at least one of the following:
  - The History of the Category “Art”
  - Methodologies of Art-History
  - Further options can be selected from within History of Art, and from fields such as anthropology, archaeology, history or philosophy.

FINAL YEAR

Core or compulsory module(s)

- Undergraduate Report in History of Art

Optional modules

- You will select 3.0 credits from a wide range of options including at least one Special Subject. Further options can be selected from within History of Art, and from fields such as anthropology, archaeology, history or philosophy.
Your learning

The programme is delivered through a combination of lectures and seminars, and may include visits to monuments, film archives and sessions in the Material Studies Laboratory. Seminars may relate to a lecture series and involve travel within the UK or abroad. On a more frequent basis, first-year thematic seminars take place at London’s many art collections and exhibitions.

Assessment

Coursework, essays and written examinations will all be used as means of formal assessment of your work.

Your career

The programme is broad and rigorous, making graduates fully competitive for jobs both within and outside the area of visual arts. The department takes seriously the need for students to develop presentational and other skills alongside the specific analytical and interpretive skills associated with history of art.

UCL’s History of Art graduates have a record of success in careers in museums and galleries, academia, the art trade, the heritage industry, art publishing, art conservation and teaching. The unique combination of visual sensitivity and intellectual rigour has also proved valuable in journalism, publishing and advertising.

First destinations of recent graduates (2013-2015) of this programme include:

// Curatorial Assistant, The Frieze Art Fair
// Junior Translator, Sotheby’s
// Communications Assistant, The Independent
// Parliamentary Researcher, Member of Parliament
// Full-time student, MA in History of Art at UCL

Your application

Application for admission should be made through UCAS (the Universities and Colleges Admissions Service). Applicants currently at school or college will be provided with advice on the process; however, applicants who have left school or who are based outside the United Kingdom may obtain information directly from UCAS.

We welcome applicants who have a serious interest in, and enthusiasm for, the study of art history. Entry is highly competitive, but you will not be required to have studied history of art before. However, advanced study in an essay-based subject such as history or English, as well as a language, would be an advantage.

Applicants will be assessed not only on academic achievement, but on evidence of intellectual curiosity, and of critical appreciation of visual culture.
Entry requirements

A LEVELS
Grades
AAA-ABB

Subjects
No specific subjects, though essay-based subjects are an advantage.

GCSE
English Language at grade B, plus Mathematics at grade C. For UK-based students a foreign language at grade B is required.

IB DIPLOMA
Points
34-38 overall.

Subjects
A score of 16-17 points in three higher level subjects, with no score lower than 5. A minimum of grade 4 is required at standard level in a modern language.

OTHER QUALIFICATIONS
UCL considers a wide range of UK and international qualifications for entry into its undergraduate programmes. Full details are given at: www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

UNDERGRADUATE PREPARATORY CERTIFICATES (International foundation courses)
The Undergraduate Preparatory Certificates (UPCs) are intensive one-year foundation courses for international students of high academic potential who are aiming to gain access to undergraduate degree programmes at UCL and other top UK universities.

Typical UPC students will be high achievers in a 12-year school system which does not meet the standard required for direct entry to UCL.

For more information see: www.ucl.ac.uk/upc.

TUITION FEES
The fees indicated are for undergraduate entry in the 2017/18 academic year and are for the first year of the programme at UCL only. Fees for 2018 entry will appear here as soon as they are available.

// UK & EU: £9,250 (2017/18 - see below)
// Overseas: £17,710 (2017/18)

The UK/EU fee quoted above may be subject to increase for the 2018/19 academic year and for each year of study thereafter and UCL reserves the right to increase its fees in line with UK government policy (including on an annual basis for each year of study during a programme). Fees for overseas students may be subject to an annual increase in subsequent years of study by up to 5%.

Please see the full details of UCL’s fees and possible changes on the UCL Current Students website.

Additional costs
Students are expected to pay the entrance fee to any admission-charging exhibition or museum visited by a class; the tutor will usually negotiate a group discount where this is significantly cheaper than the individual student discount.

FUNDING
Various funding options are available, including student loans, scholarships and bursaries. UK students whose household income falls below a certain level may also be eligible for a non-repayable bursary or for certain scholarships. Please see the Fees and funding pages for more details.
