The Postgraduate Certificate in CYP IAPT Management, a Department of Health Initiative, aims to provide managers with the necessary background knowledge and understanding to implement change within their CAMHS service, the practical tools to manage this change effectively and a framework for reflective practice and evaluation of the implementation process.

Degree summary

This programme provides specialist post-qualification training for CAMHS Service Leads within the CYP IAPT model, following the curriculum specified by the Department of Health.

The programme is based and taught at the Anna Freud National Centre for Children and Families, a national charity with a worldwide reputation.

The specific aims for the Postgraduate Certificate in CYP IAPT Management are:

- To extend the delivery of evidence-based practice by training specific members of the clinical team to embed processes of outcome evaluation including session monitoring to ensure that user participation is central to the implementation process.
- To extend development of multi-agency care pathways according to the specific context of each service.

The programme is delivered at the Anna Freud National Centre for Children and Families, and is taught by leading practitioners in the field. It is made up of 12 formal teaching days spread over the year, and four study days. Teaching is a combination of classes, tutorials, small group workshops, seminars and supervised project work. Assessment is through written assignments, oral assessment and a project report of 5,000-8,000 words.
