LONDON'S GLOBAL UNIVERSITY

MANAGEMENT MSc / 2019/20 ENTRY

www.ucl.ac.uk/graduate/
The MSc Management at UCL is a highly competitive international programme. It provides students with a solid understanding of practical managerial issues coupled with a strong foundation in current theoretical debates. It consists of three pathways: two for students from business disciplines and the one for those from other disciplines.

Degree summary

Important notice: Some possible changes to this programme are currently under review, and are outlined here. By applying to the programme, you are doing so on the understanding that these changes may come into effect for the 2019-2020 academic year, and beyond. Candidates who apply to the programme will be notified if, and when, the changes are made. If you are allocated to the Management pathway, you will acquire a solid foundation in management that will add value to your existing academic background. If you are allocated to the Corporate/Finance pathways, you will have the opportunity to specialise in either the Finance or Corporate pathway. The three pathways enable students to become leaders in their fields.

- UCL is consistently ranked as one of the top universities in the world. Our academics come from a wide range of international backgrounds and are leaders in their fields who bring their unique expertise and teaching approaches to their classes.
- Our students come from different disciplines and diverse cultural backgrounds. This allows for a unique learning experience in the heart of London’s business district.
- Our programme incorporates innovative learning activities and optional industrial experience that will help develop commercial competencies, organisational management skills, and a high degree of creativity.

The programme is delivered through a combination of lectures, seminars, and class discussion based on case studies and other activities. Student performance is assessed through simulations, presentations, coursework, group projects, class participation, and examinations.

BUSINESS RESEARCH PROJECT

- All students investigate a business issue in a global or local context, writing either a dissertation, a business report, a professional literature review, or a business plan. Some students also choose to work with a company and develop a research project which culminates in a consultancy report.
Your career

The programme is designed to enhance career prospects through the advanced study of business and organisations, and draws on the knowledge and skills gained from a first degree. It envisages educating graduates who can make an early and substantial contribution to their future employer. Graduates have secured jobs in a variety of leading companies including Barclays, Deloitte, Goldman Sachs, Google, PwC, and Unilever.

Employability

Students benefit from career training as soon as they arrive at UCL and throughout the duration of their studies. This, together with the rigorous academic training, can lead to jobs in top international companies and banks around the world.
Entry requirements

A minimum of an upper second-class Bachelor’s degree from a UK university or an overseas qualification of an equivalent standard, in any subject. Taking a GMAT or GRE test is not compulsory but if you have already taken a GMAT or GRE test then please include this in your application.

English language proficiency level

If your education has not been conducted in the English language, you will be expected to demonstrate evidence of an adequate level of English proficiency.

The level of English language proficiency for this programme is: Good.

Information about the evidence required, acceptable qualifications and test providers is provided at: www.ucl.ac.uk/graduate/english-requirements

Your application

Students are advised to apply as early as possible due to competition for places. Those applying for scholarship funding (particularly overseas applicants) should take note of application deadlines.

We are looking for applicants who have clear career plans and give evidence of having taken steps to pursue them. You should also be able to demonstrate an understanding of how the programme will contribute to your career goals including the industry or function you are interested in. Additionally, we look for evidence of excellent written and oral communication skills and a high level of activity and success in extracurricular activities, including international exposure and foreign languages.

There is an application processing fee for this programme of £150 for both online and paper applications. Further information can be found at: www.ucl.ac.uk/prospective-students/graduate/taught/application.
