RUSSIAN STUDIES MA / 2019/20 ENTRY

www.ucl.ac.uk/graduate/
The Russian Studies MA draws on the unique area studies expertise at the UCL School of Slavonic & East European Studies (SSEES) to offer a choice of modules unparalleled in depth and breadth, ranging from Russia's medieval history to its contemporary politics, from 19th-century literature to 21st-century film.

Degree summary

Russian culture is explored from a variety of perspectives. Students specialise in literature and culture, social sciences or history, or combine modules into an interdisciplinary programme. They are encouraged to develop their research skills, and many choose to learn Russian, or improve their command of Russian, through a language course.

- SSEES is one the largest national centres in the UK for the study of central, Eastern and south-east Europe and Russia.
- Located in Bloomsbury, SSEES offers an ideal location for scholars. The British Library, British Museum, University of London Library and other similar research centres are all close by.
- The SSEES Library is unequalled in Britain for the depth and breadth of its collections, the majority of which are on open access in the SSEES building.

The programme is delivered through a combination of lectures, seminars, workshops, film viewings, tutorials and specialist language courses. Assessment is carried out through unseen examinations, long essays, coursework and the research dissertation.

Degree structure

Mode: Full-time: 1 year; Part-time: 2 years
Location: London, Bloomsbury

Students undertake modules to the value of 180 credits. The programme consists of one of a choice of three core modules (30 credits), a choice of a Russian language module (30 credits) and/or optional modules (to a total of 90 credits), and a research dissertation (60 credits).

Please note that the list of modules given here is indicative. This information is published a long time in advance of enrolment and module content and availability is subject to change.

COMPULSORY MODULES

- This is a multidisciplinary programme. Nevertheless, students are required to gain a thorough methodological and theoretical grounding in disciplinary study and hence must choose between one of the following three modules:
  - Literary and Cultural Theory
  - Historical Methods and Approaches
  - Political Analysis AND Political Sociology

OPTIONAL MODULES

- 90 credits from a range of options, which may include:
  - Advanced Qualitative Methods
  - Contemporary Cultural Studies: Between Post-Communism & Post-Modernism
  - The Reflecting Screen: Russian and Soviet Cinema in its Cultural Context, 1896 to the Present
  - The Nineteenth-Century Russian Novel
  - Beyond Stereotypes: The Jews in Polish Culture
  - Causes, Consequences and Control: Corruption and Governance
  - Linguistic Methods
  - How to Read/Interpret Texts: Introduction to Hermeneutics
  - Informal Practices in Post-Communist Societies
  - Russian Foreign Policy
  - Russian Monarchy: Court Ritual and Political Ideas, 1498-1917
  - Russian Language Module
  - Introduction to Discourse Analysis
  - Russian Politics

DISSERTATION/REPORT

All MA students undertake an independent research project, which culminates in a dissertation of 10,000–12,000 words.
Your career

With their specialist knowledge and language skills, SSEES Master’s graduates can be found in business, finance, the media, international agencies, charities, diplomacy, international security organisations, the law, and academia.

Some graduates advise the Russian, Polish, American, and other governments, and the European Commission.

Employability

Russia is one of the most exciting and important countries in the world, and SSEES is the ideal place in which to study it. Students who have successfully completed the programme have progressed to further academic research on the region, or have obtained employment in such organisations as the European Parliament and the Ministry of Defence, as well as roles in business, think tanks, NGOs, or similar, both in Britain and abroad. Networking is facilitated by two major collaborations led by SSEES: CEELBAS and the International Master’s (IMESS).
Entry requirements

Normally an upper second-class Bachelor's degree in a relevant discipline from a UK university or an overseas qualification of an equivalent standard.

English language proficiency level

If your education has not been conducted in the English language, you will be expected to demonstrate evidence of an adequate level of English proficiency.

The level of English language proficiency for this programme is: Good.
